

References

- Fatigue sensor for structural health monitoring: Design, fabrication and experimental testing of a prototype sensor, Subash Gokanakonda, Muralidhar K. Ghantasala*, † and Daniel Kujawski Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering, Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, MI 49008, U.S.A. STRUCTURAL CONTROL AND HEALTH MONITORING Struct. Control Health Monit. 2016; 23:237–251 Published online 19 June 2015 in Wiley Online Library (wileyonlinelibrary.com). DOI: 10.1002/stc.1765
- Fatigue damage and sensor development for aircraft structural health monitoring, S.R. Ignatovicha , A. Menoub , M.V. Karuskevicha , P.O. Maruschakc, aNational Aviation University, Komarova Ave. 1, Kiev 03680, Ukraine b National Airports Authority of Morocco (ONDA), Academie Mohammed V de l'Aviation Civile (AIAC), Morocco c Ternopil National Ivan Pul'uj Technical University, Ruska 56, Ternopil 46001, Ukraine Theoretical and Applied Fracture Mechanics 65 (2013) 23–27
- Designing and modeling U-notch fatigue sensor to predict the fatigue life of structural components Tariq Alshahbouni*, Ali Güngör Karabük University, Faculty of Engineering, Metallurgical and Materials Engineering Department, Karabük, Turkey Engineering Science and Technology, an International Journal 22 (2019) 405–415
- Corrosion and fatigue health monitoring systems appraisal for offshore steel structures, Mélanie F.C. DENECKER (1), Laurent GAILLET (1), Sylvain CHATAIGNER (1), Jean-François DAVID (1), Richard MICHEL (1), Yannick FALAISE (1) 1 LUNAM University, IFSTTAR, MAST Department, SMC Laboratory, Route de Bouaye, 44344 Bouguenais Cedex, FRANCE. melanie.denecker@ifsttar.fr : <https://www.researchgate.net/publication/305498793>
- Overview of the Monitas JIP Didier L'Hostis/Total, Mirosław Lech (Mirek) Kaminski/MARIN and Pieter Aalberts/MARIN This paper was prepared for presentation at the 2010 Offshore Technology Conference held in Houston, Texas, USA, 3–6 May 2010.

•Sensing and Understanding Fatigue Lifetime of New and Converted FPSOs M.L. Kaminski, MARIN

<https://www.researchgate.net/publication/239817925>

•In-Situ Fatigue Sensors for Structural Health Monitoring of Highway Bridges, B. H. M. Priyantha Wijesinghe<sup>1</sup>, Scott Zacharie<sup>2</sup>, J. David Baldwin<sup>2</sup>, Kyran D. Mish<sup>1</sup> and Thordur Runolfsson<sup>1</sup> School of Civil Engineering and Environmental Science, <sup>2</sup>School of Aerospace and Mechanical Engineering, <sup>3</sup>School of Electrical and Computer Engineering, The University of Oklahoma, Norman, OK 73019, USA
Proceedings of the IMAC-XXVIII February 1–4, 2010, Jacksonville, Florida USA ©2010 Society for Experimental Mechanics Inc.